Following a competitive Tender process, Broadstock secured the contract to supply the FF&E package to this prestigious new £53 million college development.

Working closely with Bond Bryan Architects, Miller Construction, AA Projects and the Internal Project Management Team at the College, Broadstock have provided a dynamic environment with the aim of encouraging an interactive learning experience.

Client: Hartlepool College of Further Education

Installation: April 2011 – July 2011

Project Value: £950k

£950,000 of office, breakout, I.T. and standard classroom furniture, fitted laboratories, engineering benches, bespoke reception desks and display cabinets were delivered and installed on schedule and within budget.

Broadstock also provided a 'Move Management' service, which included integrating existing furniture into the space planning process and managing the physical movement to the new site.

60% of the furniture was Broadstock in-house manufactured, with the remaining products sourced from external Supply partners.

'Broadstock were able to provide product solutions and ideas, which has enabled our specific vision of a 'World Class' education and training facility to be achieved'.

Michael Bretherick
Principal and Chief Executive
Hartlepool College

'We are delighted at the standard of work provided by Broadstock, always working to the 'programme of works' and within agreed budgets. The overall project management, communication and delivery of this contract was excellent'.

Jeff Hedley
Senior Project Manager -
Miller Construction
